"FARMER'S ELECTRICITY."

The country folks need not take a back seat, for city folks any longer, at least as far as electricity is concerned. It is just as easy to have electric lights, and electric power on any farm as in the city. As an illustration of just what we mean, one of the engines in the power house in Toledo recently went out of commission, at a busy time. All of the downtown stores were plunged in darkness. The local salesman for the Deleo-Light had one of these systems mounted on the back of his car, for demonstrating to farmers. He happened to be in town, at this time, and in order to prove that this farm lighting system is just as practical for city use, he drove his car in front of the Boody House, ran a wire into the lobby, and furnished the hotel with all the light they needed, for several hours, until the city lights were turned on.

That a dependable, practical lighting plant, can be easily carried on the back of an ordinary auto, speaks well for the compactness and simplicity, and the cost of operating is very moderate indeed. The Deleo-Light also furnishes ample power for running farm machinery, churning, pumping and for household use.

A most interesting demonstration of this system will be made at the Land Products and Farm Power Machinery Exhibit in the Terminal Building at Toledo, Dec. 4th to 16th and no farmer should miss it.

The Toledo offices are located at 212 North Erie St., under the management of Mr. E. H. Walker.

STATE BRIEFS

TOLEDO. — Exchange Club has voted to boost Postmaster Parrish's suggestion that mail carriers have a holiday on Christmas day.

KENTON. — Six men were assessed heavy fines and one was sent to jail, the result of a campaign by Big Four detectives to stop coal thefts from railroad cars.

PORT CLINTON. — The Oak Harbor Poultry Association has named a committee for preparing a program and listing prizes for the poultry show which is to be held this winter.

FINDLAY. — The Findlay Ministerial Association denounced the high prices of the necessities of life. They were declared to be artificial and unnecessary.

TOLEDO. — A 60 per cent increase over last year in building work is predicted for 1916 if the present rate is kept up until January.

ST. MARYS. — Lying down across the seat when he saw his Ford about turn over, Joseph J. Dues, prominent Minister machine shop manager, escaped unhurt when his vehicle turned twice over on the St. Marys-New Bremen road.

COLUMBUS. — Columbus is to have the 1917 national dairy show. It was announced today, if suitable quarters for the housing of the great show are provided.

COLUMBUS. — Lockjaw resulting from an infection caused by biting her fingernails, caused the death here of Mrs. Katherine McCoy Bonar, 29, a former Columbus school teacher.

COLUMBUS. — The Toledo & Ohio Central R. R. has dropped, for the time at least, its fight for higher demurrage rates in Ohio to relieve coal car shortage.

Significant, in connection with the request, was the report to the state utilities commission that the T. & O. C. he last few days, has been able to supply coal shippers with all the cars they asked for.

COLUMBUS. — Columbus city officials recently took a strange junket. Led by Service Director Borden and City Engineer Maetzel, they toured a ten-foot storm sewer in big automobiles. The sewer, which has just been completed, extends across the southern part of the city, emptying into the Scioto river. The automobiles were let down into the sewer near the head, and came out on a raft at the mouth of the sewer where it empties into the river.

VIRGINIA EXHIBIT IN TOLEDO

An Interesting Farm Product Display Free to All.

A very interesting exhibit, one that is well worth while, is that of Virginia farm products, in charge of C. J. Jehne, traveling agent for the Chesapeake and Ohio Railway. This splendid display is conveniently located at 524 Madison Ave., in the Spitzer Building, Toledo, Ohio, and is attracting large crowds. The exhibit is placed by the industrial department of the Chesapeake and Ohio Railway, with a view to interesting home seekers and investors; but Mr. Jehne has no land to sell, merely demonstrating what Virginia has for the farmer who locates there. In the big exhibit among the varieties of agricultural products, grown in plenty upon the broad acres of Virginia, and with many thousands of acres yet uncultivated, are all kinds of grain, many varieties of corn, wheat, peanuts, flax, cotton, millet, sorghum, and apples. The apples include Wine Saps and the Albemarle, the highest priced apple raised in America. Wheat is shown cultivated directly from seeds found in Egyptian catacombs, 3500 years ago. Beautiful pictures are shown of Virginia scenery, and historic spots throughout the state. The exhibit is free to all and a visit will prove of interest and value to everyone. A beautiful souvenir book, in colors will be given each visitor, without charge.
